LFI - Week 14

Assignment:

Three month checkin! Write up a 1-3 page document about how the course is going for you. What has been most impactful? How have you already applied what you've learned? What new programs or services have you started working on for your library? What else do you want to share? What would you like to focus on for a final assignment? After you submit these, I will check in with each of you to talk about final assignment ideas and plans

I'm starting over a bit (professionally), but these are the things I've learned in LFI that I feel most capable of doing.

- Small details to add into library instruction sessions:
 - Security basics: good passwords, encrypting hard disk if you have a laptop, doing updates as soon as they become available
 - How the internet works (showing points of exposure and how to limit them) -> how authentication works via CCSF, what cookies tell online entities about you
- Muddy:
 - students get a lifelong email account with the school when they register -- what are the privacy concerns around this?
- Do:
 - Do what small things I can to make our library webpages more secure (implement Google Analytics changes and referrer tags to HTML on pages we have control over)
 - Post privacy policies for all e-resources vendors
- Later:
 - propose professional development activity on a FLEX day with my district (first need to better understand the college structure and see how they go in October. Proposal for Spring?)

There will be more, but this is my immediate plan. I believe my final project will a more thorough plan of the above, with additional topics learned in LFI: we have learned about (sorted by what I feel strongest in imparting and weakest) -> the audience I'm hoping to reach -> the stakeholders I need to bring on board (and any progress that has been made in any of the areas).
